2.4 Assessor – submitted by Ken Baim, Sole Assessor

During the month of August, I attended the Sullivan County Assessor's Association regular monthly meeting at Lake Superior Park in Bethel.

Governor Hockul signed into law a provision allowing the increase of Aged and Disability exemptions to $50,000 from the $29,900 we have used for many years. Currently we have 24 aged exemptions that total $612,914 in assessed value and 4 low-income disability exemptions that total another $125,282. This exemption helps these taxpayers remain in their homes while living on a very low annual income. As I no longer process the enhanced STAR applications, I do not see the income levels that might become eligible. There is supposed to be a report coming from Department of Taxation to flag some possible income eligible individuals. I will forward these figures for further consideration at the October meeting.

In early August all files were updated and doubled checked for address and bank mailing information. The files were transmitted to Telescent for the printing of the school tax bills. Our liaison helped update the data base with all the latest releases and place the STAR check markers on the file so those receiving a STAR check instead of a reduction directly off the tax bill will have a statement on their tax bill that they will receive a check from Department of Taxation.

The annual reports were processed on the computer and checked to the ones run by Telescent. These reports were then submitted to New York State and Sullivan County. The quarterly sales report was run after all deeds had been entered into the computer and submitted to Department of Taxation. These reports are used to generate future equalization rates.

Preliminary preparation for the two upcoming Small Claims hearings was started with the selection of some possible comparable parcels to support the assessments being contested.

Deeds being received from the County has hit a bottle neck at the County level. The credit bulletin shows a moderate pace of sales each week, but they have not been able to be processed and sent to us.

Respectfully submitted,
Ken Baim, Sole Assessor

2.6 Energy Committee read aloud by Brandi Merolla via ZOOM
Tusten Energy Committee August Report 2022
Soft Plastic

The TEC has received its 7th TREX bench and it is going to Pete's Market. Pete's contributes to our soft plastic recycling with internal collection as well as a drop-off box in the lobby for residents amounting to approximately ½ of what we've collected.

TREX has also sent Tusten 3 new durable collection boxes to be placed around town this week. The TEC has collected and recycled 22,647 pounds (over 11 tons) to date.

LED Streetlights

NYSEG is still holding up the final installation of the Main St LED pendant lights, the streetlights in the town's Main St parking lot and a short list of lights around the town outside Narrowsburg. I have emailed NYPA and NYSEG numerous times and they are inching forward. The TEC asks our supervisor to follow up with NYSEG.

Town Trash/Recycling Receptacles

The town ordered outdoor heavy duty plastic trash and recycling receptacles, but the sticker labels curled up from the sun rendering them unreadable. The town was to buy new stickers.

The Future of the Tusten HORSE; TEC correspondences to the Town Board

August 29, 2022

To the Tusten Town Board,

In 2018, the Tusten Energy Committee looked closely at the issue of food waste. 40% of all food is wasted in the United States. That statistic was a motivating factor in looking to get a food digester for our town.

After applying for a fully funded grant for a town food scrap digester, the NYS DEC awarded the TEC with $138,100 to purchase Impact Bioenergy's HORSE (High solids, Organic waste, Recycling, System with, Electrical output) to reduce food waste, produce nutrient rich probiotic plant food and biogas.

Since the HORSE was installed outdoors at the Town Highway Barn in 2021, several Tusten food merchants have contributed their food scraps to this recycling effort. The plant food the HORSE has produced called "Second Helpings; A Plant Food Solution", has proven to be a valuable product for growing healthy vegetables and plants. And after almost a year of testing the plant food, NOFA-NY has approved and listed the product for use by certified organic producers.

However, as we worked with the digester, certain aspects of its operation became clear. In order to exploit its full potential, a setting with more available funding would allow for hiring a full-time operator along with greater investment in the machine itself, thereby allowing for greater output of energy along with increased production of liquid fertilizer.

The TEC has consulted with GrowingSOUL, a Sullivan County nonprofit, which addresses food waste and recovery and is now partnering with Sullivan County's efforts to feed those in need. Part of that equation is food scrap recovery and food production for our county which consistently ranks as one of the least healthy in the state. This group sees the value of the Tusten HORSE and has shown a great interest in partnering in operational support.

Jessica Weiss, Executive Director of GrowingSOUL, has analyzed our technical needs and has spoken with the Impact engineers directly, the designers of the HORSE. Her review of the ongoing issues suggests that they can be modified by Impact but its operation would still benefit from a full-time operator rather than a volunteer with limited time.

Fortunately, a possible solution has presented itself. GrowingSOUL is currently partnering with Cornell Cooperative Extension in The Sullivan County Zero-Waste Food Security Project to create a sustainable, regenerative, self-energized, integrated food security pilot housed at the Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) site in Liberty, NY. They are interested in making the Tusten HORSE a key part of the system.

The Center will include:

- A kitchen garden for food production run by the Horticulture program at CCE;
- The Catskills Kitchen, a commercial kitchen incubator where GrowingSOUL will lead food recovery and food processing;
- The Community Cupboard to lead food distribution for our residents in need;
- Onsite composting and anaerobic digestion, leveraging the Tusten HORSE for processing food scraps and producing “Second Helpings; A Plant Food Solution” as well as clean energy. The center would expand use of the Tusten HORSE in an integrated system, processing organics in a sustainable manner, and produce plant food. The adjacent garden location will demonstrate the full cycle of the plant food product use; the HORSE would also be upgraded to power itself and/or charge any EV transport vehicles.

- A job for a trained operator would be part of the solution.

In terms of Tusten’s investment in the HORSE, the project never cost the town anything because it was fully funded by NYS DEC and supported by the volunteers of the TEC. The only money spent came from TEC funds to print informational flyers. And for the last few years the TEC has educated Tusten food merchants and the public about the importance of composting food scraps rather than bringing food waste to the landfill. Creating organic plant food that grows healthier vegetables is the way of the future and feeding those in need in the county is an honorable goal. Support for our efforts has been international as we continue to inspire municipalities, schools, businesses, and farmers.

In summation, the HORSE would be more productively utilized as part of a bigger system with a paid operator who has professional experience. We conclude that the HORSE is a small business with an employment opportunity for a trained operator. GrowingSOUL’s executive director is currently negotiating with Impact, makers of the HORSE, to fix the inherent issues. Although we did our due diligence, it was only after the digester was operational that these became clear. Therefore, after much deliberation, the TEC is recommending the relocation of the Tusten HORSE to the food system at Cornell Cooperative Extension in Liberty to serve the county’s food outreach goals. There will be no cost to Tusten for this relocation. We ask the Tusten Town Board to pass a resolution as per this request.

As a sincere thank you for their support, Tusten residents and participating food merchants will be offered the rest of the plant food we produced at the HORSE for free on a scheduled day in October. We will fill buckets with lids with “Second Helpings; A Plant Food Solution”.

Please email me any questions you may have asap prior to the next town board meeting on September 13, 2022, so that we can provide well researched answers at the meeting.

September 10, 2022

To the Tusten Town Board and Town Attorney

Since we sent you the HORSE update, a great opportunity has presented itself to the town of Tusten. The NYS DEC has reached out to the TEC to let us know that the Town of Tusten is now eligible for a continuation food digester grant of up to $200,000. The grant could be used for upgrades to the HORSE including a getting a larger grinder, operation costs to the non-profit GrowingSOUL, transport of the HORSE that we’ve outlined to Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) in Liberty (adjacent to BOCES), as well as associated support costs of CCE.

Bottom line: This grant would speed up the HORSE ownership transfer that we've proposed.

This wouldn't cost the Town any money and TEC member Jennifer Porter would apply for the grant. If awarded, Jennifer would manage the paperwork for the length of the grant period.

The deadline to pass a resolution to apply for this grant is the night of the town board meeting on September 13, 2022, since the grant will be expended if we don't get the application in by next Thursday.

So, in addition to a resolution to allow for the transfer ownership of the HORSE, we request a Motion to allow the TEC to apply for a state continuation grant called Municipal Food Scraps Recycling Initiatives – 2021.

Please email us any questions you may have prior to the town board meeting on Tuesday. This grant would ensure that the Tusten HORSE become an integral part of a food recovery and growing effort to feed those in need in the county.
